CROPPINGS FROM FIFTY-FOOT DYKE SHOW FAVORABLE ASSAYS

L. Roberts, who with associates, is interested in the Hot Creek section, about eight miles south of Tybo, arrived in town today bringing a number of samples from the property he has been working. The ore he is exhibiting comes from a ledge that crops out about fifty feet in width and on the surface can be traced for quite a distance. The assays show the surface rock to carry about $8 in gold, while a prospecting shaft sent down to a depth of twelve feet show the values to increase materially. The property is located in the porphyry foothills and the gold bearing rock is of a jasper formation, bearing a resemblance to the Ellendale high

George Wingfield and wife left today for Goldfield after spending several days in this city. Mr. Wingfield stated shortly before he left that he had secured a six months' bond on the property at Cedar Corrais, which is now attracting considerable interest, and as soon as he could make arrangements would have a force of men at work developing the property. The amount of the bond could not be learned.

J. J. Clark and Ed Johnson, the original owners, have been at work developing the holdings for two months past and now have a number of surface cuts and shallow shafts. The ledge is reported to be about four feet wide and the ore shows both ruby and horn silver. About two tons have been extracted which will average in the neighborhood of $200 a ton. Cedar Corrals is about 1. miles east of this city.

Frank Horton, the well known mining man who has been identified with Goldfield since its earliest days, at Diamondfield, came in from Berkeley, Cal., Sunday to complete plans for the reorganization of the Daisy company, which it is believed will put the company in a good financial condition for future operations and also clean up the indebtedness against the property.

Mr. Horton said yesterday at Goldfield that it is too early yet to make a definite statement regarding the progress of the plans, but that he hoped to be able to do so hefore he leaves Goldfield, about the latter part of the week.

All Voters Must Register for Forthcoming General Election

The great register for the general elections to be held on November 8 will close on October 20 and those who have not registered at that time will be deprived of the privilege of voting at the fall election. Many persons have inferred that the fact of their having registered for the recent primary election or having been on the great register before the last general election would entitle them to vote this fall, but such is not the case. Every voter, no matter where he lives or what registry book or books he has signed in the past, must have his name entered on the great register before October 21, if he would vote at the general election this fall.
